Reinventing a leading fintech with machine learning

A Chicago-based frontrunner in the financial technology sector, has always recognized the potential of harnessing data-driven intelligence – they currently connect 3 million customers to $9 billion in loans and 1 million credit cards. Qubika is partnering with them to drive their data and machine learning initiatives.

Our work includes implementing new data pipelines, and using AI to drive innovation in key business areas, such as rapidly assessing a person's credit worthiness.

- Machine learning algorithms
- Specialized data pipelines
- Data visualization

Creating a data platform & GenAI solution for a leading investment management firm

Partnering with a leading investment management firm serving one of the world's best known educational institutions, we empowered executives with unparalleled data access and analysis capabilities.

By developing an LLM-powered chatbot that functions as a virtual Data Analyst, we delivered a 24/7 “on-demand analyst” solution. This innovation streamlines information retrieval and analysis, enabling data-driven decision-making at any time.

- Data platform
- LLM solution
- Data pipelines and storage
